DESCENDANTS OF

JOHN LEONARD REED, LEONARD REED,

JOHN REED AND DAVID REED

BY

VERA M. BARTLETT

Magnolia, Ohio

Magnolia, Ohio.

The following pages contain brief historical sketches and a list of descendants of the line which includes John Leonard Reed, Leonard Reed, John Reed (December 17, 1758 - September 17, 1801) and David Reed.

1686913

This is the first of a series of supplements to the Chapter XI, "Reeds of Other Families", in the book of Dr. W. H. Reed, "History and Genealogy of the Reed Family".

In 1939, when Dr. Reed was living, I asked him whether we could revise his edition and enlarge the chapter on the Reeds in the Tulpehocken region, Berks County; but he advised a new work. He thought his large book would be made too large.

On account of the scarcity of paper and the cost of printing, I can give at this time only a mimeographed copy to the libraries and those among the descendants who are interested in genealogy.

I have consulted the works of Professor Rupp and Dr. W. H. Reed, have read some histories of the Palatinate region, "Mittelburger's Journey to Pennsylvania in 1750", early New York history. * I visited Mr. and Mrs. John A. Reed in 1939 at Stouchsburg, Pennsylvania. They have in their possession deeds, titles, releases, wills, letters, manuscripts, and know many tales that have been handed down from generation to generation.

My husband happened to see Dr. Reed's "History and Genealogy of the Reed Family" in the Boston library and made a few notations of names in Reading. Just before this trip, we had seen a certificate of baptism belonging to Loyal Reed of Waynesburg, Ohio. It was his father's and Berks County was inscribed upon it.

Not knowing which line to look up -- there were countless Reeds -- we went to Reading to see what we could find. We decided to go to one John A. Reed of Stouchsburg, Pennsylvania to see if he were still living and could give us information concerning David Reed. Luckily we found the right person. He and Mrs. Reed brought forth many records and took us to the Reed burial ground where the names and dates of all the ancestors were still legible. What had been a hard problem became a simple one because these people had kept records. They inspired me to bring the records up to date and file them where they can be easily procured.

The Early Eighteenth Century Palatine Emigration" by W.A. Knittle
Three volumes of Pennsylvania Dutch History and lists by Strassburger - Hinke
which should be in every genealogical library. Exact list
"Pennsylvania German Pioneers -- A publication of the original of arrivals in the port of Philadelphia from 1727-1803"
Stouchsburg - Hinke

During the years from 1702 to 1727, there were between forty and fifty thousand Germans who migrated from the Palatinate to escape persecution by the troops of the Catholic ruler, Louis XIV. Of these, thirty-three thousand went to London in 1708-1709, having been invited by Queen Anne of England. Seven thousand returned to Germany, disappointed and despondent. Ten thousand died. The rest went to America. John Leonard Reed (Rieth) and his brothers Peter and George, according to Professor I. Daniel Rupp in his book "Thirty Thousand Immigrants", ^{of April 1710 according to C.A. Knittle} were on one of the ships that sailed for New York on December 25, 1709. They arrived in New York June 14, 1710 and camped in tents on what is now Governor's Island, until late autumn when several hundred were taken up the Hudson River to Livingston Manor.

The three Rieth brothers are in the list of names of male Palatines above twenty-one years of age in Livingston Manor, New York, in the winter of 1710 and the summer of 1711. Here they tried to manufacture tar and raise hemp to pay for their passage and subsistence. There was mismanagement. The project was a complete failure and the Germans were faced with starvation. In the late autumn of 1712, one hundred fifty families, among them the Rieth brothers, left for Schoharie Valley, New York, hauling their luggage on sleds in a deep snow through an unbroken forest. It took them three weeks to go sixty miles. They improved the lands granted them and stayed for ten years, at the end of which time they were dispossessed due to defective titles.

On February 9, 1715 at Albany New York, Leonard Reed received his naturalization papers, bearing the signatures of Judge Peter Schuyler and Philip Livingston.

In the spring of 1723, ^{or before - 1720, perhaps, as that date is carved on the door} thirty-three families moved down to the Penn tracts at Tulpehocken, Pennsylvania, fifteen miles west of Reading. This time these families petitioned the governor for a title to the acres they settled. Leonard Reed had a plantation of a thousand acres or more.

He gave eight acres of this land to the Lutheran church, school and cemetery.

He built a large frame colonial house ^{with 1720 on the door} and a huge bank barn and a grist mill.

It was in the sluice of this mill that Leonard Reed met a tragic death in 1747, leaving a widow, Lisa Catrina, and eight children. ^{Elizabeth Catherine}
